... Religion. Most of the writing about Christianity in the Voice addressed the conflict between the selfish individualism that defined the new economic system, and the Christian ideals of benevolence and charity.. Many workers condemned the rise of a society that they saw as being founded on the sin of "avarice," and the "undue exercise of...selfish propensities." Religion - Industrial Revolution The Reformation (alternatively named the Protestant Reformation or the European Reformation) was a major movement within Western Christianity in 16th-century Europe that posed a religious and political challenge to the Catholic Church and in particular to papal authority, arising from what was perceived to be errors, abuses, and discrepancies by the Catholic Church. Reformation -

Wikipedia This dependency upon politicians was the principle factor contributing to lack of social reform prior to the Industrial Revolution.

The Industrial Revolution was a fundamental agent of change throughout society, and could be said to have founded the civilisation in which we live today. Politicians and Social Reformers in the Industrial Revolution The Industrial Revolution was arguably the first period to raise these tensions. In its first phase, the automation it brought was labour-replacing. It was an era of increasing output, but without broad-based wage growth, and of increasing profits for some,
